My first love

Arturo is an only child, his father Jorge died when he was only 7 years old in a car accident. After the death of his father, his mother Laura had to get an adequate job to have a good economic situation and so his son would not miss anything important. Arturo every time he arrived home from school he was alone while his mother was working. He got used to it over time, he had almost no friends and as he grew up he thought that doing everything without help was much better. Arturo is a very serious student, respectful, he likes to work alone but is very tenacious and somehow rude on certain occasions. But, when someone comes to have his trust is very polite and very friendly, and not everyone can have his trust.

Arturo is a student who sees and feels everything. It is normal to the naked eye, I can say it in the sense that it has nothing extraordinary, as for example, it does not have a very beautiful face as a model, it never considers it to have it, nor does it have an athlete physique, but it conforms to it. He has brown hair and is short, is 1.77, is thin, but almost his clothes are black because he always identified with the color black. Every time he goes out, it tries to be always attentive to what may happen and he reacts regardless of the consequences of his actions, in class or in any other place he does not like to interact with anyone, he always tries to work alone in the work of the school, because that is how he concentrates more and feels sure of what he does.

Every time he works, he feels much more confident in his knowledge of any topic and usually gets very good grades, almost the opposite when he works with his classmates. He is doing well but he does not usually get the notes that he always hopes to take, he is a very quiet and peaceful teenager, but sometimes he is very haughty. He does not usually pay attention when the teacher puts some dynamic activity in class as games to connect with the subject of class, he usually gets angry and if the teacher says something he responds in a direct and rude way.

One normal day, in Spanish class, everyone had to do an activity in teams of 3 people, Arturo joined the classmates who were close to his position. In the activity he gave his opinion but one of the other comrades did not want to continue working and told Arturo to do all the work himself. Arthur immediately stood up and pushed him so hard that the other teammate fell to the ground. Arturo insulted him and told him to do it, because he was not going to do all the work on his own. The other partner stood up and gave him a fist into the face and Arturo also returned the blow, immediately the teacher tried to separate them and calm the two young people, but had to put a bad grade to Arturo for bad attitude.

The bad thing was that he did not apologize to the other partner for reacting that way, but the teacher after classes spoke with Arturo and explained that the correct thing is for the two to apologize but Arturo did not want to apologize to his partner. He thought at the time that what he had done had been bad, but he cannot let the others mess with him in anyway.

A few days later, Arturo went to class normally, it was a science class and it is one of the classes Arturo likes the most. At his side he became a beautiful girl who was new in her grade, her name was Sara, she was a very pretty woman, because she had blonde hair, honey eyes, average 1.75, thin, was the kind of woman that all men wanted to have. As she was new to Arturo's degree, she did not know him. She greet him and Arturo looked at her and answered her greeting very coldly. Sara smiled at him and concentrated on science class just like Arturo.

A few days later Sara began to look at him and every time she looked at him she liked him more and more, there was something in him that she liked and it was her seriousness, her face, her responsibility in the studio and she was very intelligent, so in one of the works from science she spoke to him and told him to do with her in the final science project that was in pairs or in groups of three people, he did not have a problem and he said yes, but that the Only condition was that she was responsible and she accepted. For the beginning of the project she began to go to Arturo's house constantly, and she knew him more and more and little by little Sara liked Arturo more and he began to feel something for her but he concentrated more for Sara.

Time passed and Sara told Arturo that she was in love with him and wanted to conquer him, and Arturo told her yes, that he also felt something for her but that at the same time he felt something strange because he had never fallen in love with someone, then the two decided to start a courtship. Arturo was more human and more respectful with everyone. His mother was happy to see that his son was happy to be with Sara, but Sara's parents did not agree with the relationship since Sara's family was in a good financial situation, so Arturo decided to talk with Sara's parents to explain to them that his intentions of him with her were good and that in reality he wanted to be with her.

Sara's parents gave him time to show that he loved her and that he wanted the best for her and with time Arturo fell in love with Sara and decided to stay together. Sara's parents realizing that he loved his daughter they trusted him, and after graduating last year Sara and Arturo were happy, and even though there were more kids who were interested in Sara, she did not pay attention to them. Which she was in love with Arturo.

Both decided to study medicine, to spend more time together and two years later they decided to get married, to be more and more closer and form a family, but in her second semester of medicine a partner fell in love with Arturo, he told her that he was not interested and she got so upset that she tried to kill him with her car. She ran over Arturo but luckily he got not hurt. They took him immediately to the hospital and Sara and her parents were on the sidelines of the situation. A few days later, Arturo left the hospital and married Sara, the only love of his life and the one he would never leave for anyone else. Both formed a beautiful family and have been together all this time supporting each other without doubt.
